BACKGROUND

The International Intelligence Agency (IIA) is a crisis simulation committee that places delegates in the role of intelligence operatives navigating the murky waters of espionage, cyber warfare, and geopolitical strategy. This is an advanced committee requiring quick thinking, strategic planning, and deep knowledge of international security affairs.

KEY ISSUES TO RESEARCH

1. Cyber Warfare: State-sponsored hacking operations ? Stuxnet, SolarWinds, Colonial Pipeline, and their geopolitical implications.
2. Disinformation Networks: The use of social media platforms, bot farms, and deepfake technology to manipulate public opinion and interfere in elections.
3. Proxy Digital Actors: Non-state actors operating on behalf of state interests ? hacktivist groups, private intelligence firms, and mercenary cyber units.
4. Election Interference: Documented cases of foreign interference in democratic elections worldwide.
5. Intelligence Cooperation: The Five Eyes alliance, intelligence sharing frameworks, and the challenges of multilateral intelligence cooperation.
